Self-Regulation and Task Execution Skills

Date(s): December 9, 2016; February 17 and April 14, 2017

Participants: Homeroom teachers (kindergarten, cycles 1, 2 and 3), resource teachers, CCW and all other school staff members

Place: Centre de loisirs communautaire Lajeunesse, 7378, rue Lajeunesse (between Faillon et de Castelnau), Montreal. Free parking is available behind the centre on Berri Street.

Registration Deadline: November 23, 2016 at noon

Workshop Description:

Adverse childhood experiences alter pathways in the brain, resulting in underdeveloped self-regulation and task execution skills. These underdeveloped executive function skills lead to significant behavioral and learning challenges that make teaching difficult. Over the upcoming workshops we will

- examine research behind a Trauma Sensitive teaching approach,
- explore strategies that reduce problematic behavior and increase academic success,
- develop practical tools that can be easily integrated into your regular teaching practice.
